

5,000 Attend Annual Melon Festival Here

An estimated 5,000 persons yesterday attended the annual Hempstead County watermelon festival held at Hope's Fair park.

The day-long program started at 10:30 a. m. with a parade headed by Governor Sid McMath, Congressman Boyd Tackett and Attorney General Ike Murray. The city was packed to the brim for the parade and moved on to Fair park by noon.

From there on the crowd moved from one event to the other throughout the day.

Almost 50,000 pounds of watermelons were served to the visitors from 3:30 to 5 p. m. The day was climaxed with 3,000 to 4,000 persons jamming the coliseum to see Miss Kelly Marlar, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Marlar of Hope crowned queen of the festival.

Miss Marlar won out over 77 other contestants that furnished plenty of competition. There was only one place in the contest. Others competing were Minella Berry, Mary Lou Moore, Mary Pate, Kay Franks, Barbara Panky, Billie Joyce Boyett and Helen Marie Atkins. Chuck Armitage was master of ceremonies and Mayor Lyle Brown crowned the festival queen.

Earlier in the afternoon Governor Sid McMath told a large Coliseum audience that Highway 67 between Texarkana and the Missouri line would be finished in 1952.

Congressman Boyd Tackett and Attorney General Ike Murray praised the watermelon industry and its importance to Hempstead County and Arkansas.

During the night Hope's Legionnaires handily defeated DeQuen 9-3 before a partisan crowd. It was packed at the ball game and there was absolutely no room around the municipal pool during the splendid water show given by a troupe from Texarkana under the direction of the American Red Cross.

Results of the swimming and diving contests were announced as follows by Hendrick Spraggins, in charge of the event:

Klan Crosses Blaze in Four States

By United Press
Fiery crosses, symbol of the Ku Klux Klan since reconstruction days, blazed in four southern states last night.

There was no indication that the demonstrations meant an organized revival of klan activity on a wholesale scale, although an Alabama leader said the incidents "presaged a renewal" of activity in his state.

Cross burnings often are merely indications of big klan membership drive or initial rituals. They also have been used in an attempt to frighten Negroes in some sections or as warnings to persons who have incurred the klan's displeasure.

Blazing crosses were reported last night in sections of Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee. A huge wooden cross, wrapped in kerosene-soaked rags, was burned in an all-Negro section of Atlanta in the first such incident reported to police in recent months.

Capt. E. O. Mullen of the police department attached little significance to the burning as there had been no racial trouble reported in the area. But a search was started for footprints and other clues that might identify the burners.

Three giant crosses were burned on a vacant lot in the suburbs of Nashville, Tenn. Police found 200 handbills near the scene expressing the klan's opposition to communism. Officers throughout the burning might be the signal for renewal klan activity in the area.

At least six crosses were burned in the Birmingham, Ala., area during the night.

William Hugh Morris, former Alabama KKK chief, said various groups had been busy since the end of trials which stemmed from night riding terrorism in the summer of 1949. There have been no convictions in the terrorist activity and the investigation has been dropped.

Flames from several of the crosses, set up on high hills overlooking the Alabama steel city, were plainly visible for miles. Morris thought the incidents "presaged a renewal of activity of the federal Ku Klux Klans."

An unidentified klanman was quoted as saying more crosses would be burned tonight in the Orlando, Fla., area "because of lax law enforcement."

Some Comments From the Melon Festival Crowd

Comments from the crowd as gathered during yesterday's festivities at the Watermelon festival: I wonder how so many rate a whole watermelon. But it was good and cold. Did you ever see such waste of good melons—they are only eating the hearts.

Boy you can't tell me that Sid isn't running again. He shook hands with me three times before I got seated and I bet he is worn out from climbing over those bleachers.

They really should give those boys some recognition for entertaining the crowd with model airplanes. They were really good. First time I have ever seen any like that. (Bill Wray and his boys entertained the group when the baseball game scheduled for 2:30 was cancelled at the last minute.)

Shucks, they picked that festival queen too quick. Just don't see how a judge could make up his mind so soon with all those well looking gals. (The judges selected the queen on the first ballot.)

Man, look at the sweat pop out. These people are all full of watermelon and then they pack in this hot Coliseum but it was worth it to see these pretty gals in bathing suits.

Sure like to watch that diver, he really knows his business. Wish they would cut this Johnson grass out from back end of Municipal swimming pool then I could see the girls swim too.

They really got a program lined for tonight. But how am I going to watch the water ballet, attend the ball game and go to the barn dance all the same time. I'd like to take them all in.

There are lots of people here tonight. Believe their are more than this afternoon. And it looks like they came one to the car—never saw so many cars in one place in my life.

Taking everything into consideration it was a pretty good festival—lots of people, melon and entertainment. Of course, it wasn't as big as in the old days but then it wasn't planned to be.

Another enemy group was dispersed after a two-hour fight in the same area.

A U. N. task force Wednesday bulldozed through a heavy mortar barrage above Korangpo on the western front and drove defending Communists off high ground in an hour and a half fight.

A reinforced Communist battalion at the same time attacked west of Kumhwa behind a heavy mortar and artillery barrage, but Allied artillery scattered the enemy.

U. N. and Communist patrols exchanged small arms fire Wednesday just east of the cease-fire conference city of Kaesong.

U. N. war planes flew 685 sorties Wednesday against Communist supply dumps, marshalling yards and airfields to disrupt any Communist preparations for a surprise attack.

Negro to Die for Shooting an Officer

Tucker Prison Farm, July 26 — (AP)—One of two East Arkansas Negroes is to pay with his life here early tomorrow for the pistol slaying of a St. Francis county peace officer.

He is Aubrey Smith, who will go to the Arkansas electric chair sometime after sunrise. Smith was sentenced to death for the fatal shooting of Deputy Sheriff I. Campbell last Aug. 3.

Smith's companion, Peter Dorsey, also has been sentenced to die. However, his execution has been postponed pending outcome of an appeal to the United States Supreme court.

Tried in Phillips county on a charge of venue, Smith was found guilty of first degree murder for firing a pistol shot into the head of Deputy Campbell.

Smith and Dorsey were being taken to the Little Rock to Forrest City to face a cow theft charge.

The two prisoners, who were handcuffed together in the back seat of the officer's car, overpowered Campbell and another officer, Otis Tatum. In the scuffle Campbell was slain. Tatum was hit by bullets. He recovered.

Smith and Dorsey escaped but were captured.

Smith signed a statement in which he said he pulled the trigger on the fatal weapon. Dorsey has denied that he was the one that fired the killing shot.

Smith and Dorsey appealed to the Arkansas Supreme court but the high tribunal affirmed their conviction. Smith has not appealed to the U. S. Supreme court.

More American Communists Are Jailed

Washington, July 26 — (AP) — The justice department today launched a new roundup of secondary Communist party leaders in Los Angeles, San Francisco and New York City.

The department announced that 11 arrests have been made.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said those arrested have been active in Communist party work, largely in California.

The new move against party leaders followed the arrests of 17 eastern seaborne Communists last month.

All of those taken are accused of conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

This is the charge of which 11 top officials of the party were convicted and given sentences ranging from three to five years.

Four of these top officials are now listed as fugitives from justice because they failed to surrender for imprisonment after their convictions were upheld by the Supreme court. In addition, the FBI is seeking four others who slipped through the dragnet when the 17 arrests were made in New York City and Pittsburgh on June 20.

Among those arrested today was William Schneiderman, chairman of the California Communist state committee and a member of the party's alternate national committee.

The justice department said the alternate committee was formed to take over the leadership from seven of the convicted group gave themselves up to go to prison, the department said, Schneiderman was called to New York City to act as the top Communist executive in the national headquarters.

His arrest this morning was made in New York.

These other arrests were announced.

Rose Chernin, 48, of Los Angeles, executive secretary of the Los Angeles committee for protection of foreign born.

Philip Morris Connelly, 47, of Los Angeles, Los Angeles editor of "Daily People's World."

Ernest Otso Fox 45 of San Francisco, waterfront section organizer of the San Francisco county Communist party.

Dorothy Ray Healey, 38, of Los Angeles, chairman of the county Communist party.

Carl Rude Lambert, 54, of San Francisco, chairman of the security review commission for the party's district 13.

Albert Jason Lima, 43, of Richmond, Calif., east bay regional party chairman.

Al Richmond, 37, of San Francisco, executive editor of the "Daily People's World," published there.

Loretta Starvius Stack, 38, of San Francisco, former organizational secretary for California.

Henry Steinberg, 38, of Los Angeles, county legislative director.

Oleta O'Connor Yates of San Francisco, California state secretary for the party.

Allies, Chinese Agree on Limits of Peace Talks

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Korea, July 26 — (AP) — Allied and Communist spokesmen agreed today on the exact limits of Korean armistice negotiations.

United Nations spokesman said negotiators approved a five-point program and immediately disposed of the first item.

Communist spokesman handled this as a "progressive move toward an armistice."

But U. N. announcement clarified: 1) delegates are far apart on the remaining four points; 2) nobody knows how long it will take for them to agree; and 3) shooting will continue until an armistice is signed.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. N. headquarters announced the five-point agenda list of subjects to be debated covers:

1. Adoption of agenda. They did that in the first nine minutes of Thursday's session.

2. Deciding where to draw the truce line and establishing a buffer zone between opposing armies.

3. Concrete arrangements to end the shooting and supervise the truce.

4. Arrangements for exchange of prisoners.

5. Recommendations to the governments of the countries concerned on both sides. "The Communist demand for withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea comes under this heading."

The Pyongyang radio said North Korean General Nam Il, senior Red delegate, proposed a meeting to discuss the withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea within a fixed time after the cease-fire agreement is realized.

The fixed time was not announced and apparently is yet to be decided.

The North Korean broadcast gave the text of Nam Il's speech at the tenth cease-fire session. It said it was a "final offer to reject" the "policy of withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea within a fixed time after the cease-fire agreement is realized."

Negotiators agreed on the agenda in the shortest session they have yet held. It lasted only 10 minutes.

"Preliminary discussions began immediately after the agreement on the agenda," Ridgway's headquarters announced.

They will go into it more deeply in the 11th session scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow 7 p. m. EST today.

The announcement emphasized that agreement on the agenda is merely the initial step for the final goal of a military armistice and resulting cease-fire.

The second and third points listed on the agenda are the biggest hurdles that negotiators will have to overcome.

Point four — exchange of prisoners — also could offer unexpected obstacles.

The Allies have indicated they want to exchange prisoners on a man for man basis. The Reds have indicated they think an exchange of war would be sensible.

Party Control at Stake in Pennsylvania

Philadelphia, July 24 — (AP) — Control of the Republican party in Pennsylvania is at stake today in the primary election.

The primary election is the first step in the major contest for the Republican nomination in Philadelphia. At the polls, the party will elect a delegate to the national convention in Philadelphia. The party is divided into two factions, the "old guard" and the "new guard." The "old guard" is led by the Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, 66, nationally known Baptist minister, and Walter P. Miller, 49, a paper manufacturer.

This is the first election in Philadelphia since the voters ratified a new city charter. The "old guard" is a Republican organization, which has controlled this third city of the nation for nearly a century, fought against the charter.

Thus the voters are in effect selecting today he "now" Republican party in Philadelphia.

Miller has contended that Dr. Poling is playing along with the "old guard." In a television address last night, he accused Dr. Poling of being a "good front" for the "old pros."

Dr. Poling maintains that he is independent of the GOP organization, which has announced its support of Dr. Poling.

In an election eve message last night, Dr. Poling urged the city's voters to ballot "into political oblivion" those who without facts to support their charges, smear public officials, city employees and private citizens.

The new city charter avowedly established a "strong mayor" city government with less authority than before for the city council, which, incidentally, is being whittled from 22 to 17 members in the general election next fall.

Elsewhere in the state, the primary is pretty much routine. There is one statewide contest, for a seat on the state supreme court.

The Democrats also are having a contest for the majority nomination, but City Controller Joseph S. Clark, Jr., is expected to win easily over Joseph Sharfain, former city solicitor.

Richardson Dilworth, city treasurer and unsuccessful candidate for governor last fall, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for district attorney.

Michael A. Foley, a prominent Philadelphia lawyer, is Dr. Poling's running mate for district attorney. Raymond A. Spelzer, assistant district attorney, is running with Miller for the D. A. nomination. Spelzer has been prominent in the four-year investigation of municipal scandals here.

Louisiana Fears an Oil Scandal

Washington, July 25 — (AP) — Rep. Willis D. La said today a pending house bill to earmark royalties from oil wells in the offshore submerged lands for educational purposes holds the possibility of a "terrible oil scandal."

He told a reporter he has examined a bill by Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont) and was "choked" at the broad powers it would confer

Willis is an advocate of other legislation which would give states title to part of the submerged lands — and the oil under them — and an interest in royalties from the remainder of such lands.

He told a reporter he has examined a bill by Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont) and was "choked" at the broad powers it would confer on the secretary of interior. The bill, he said, would put all royalties from such lands into a fund for aid to education but at the same time would give the secretary authority to hand out leases under any terms, regulation and prices he saw fit.

5,000 Attend Annual Melon Festival Here

An estimated 5,000 persons yesterday attended the annual Hempstead County watermelon festival held at Hope's Fair park.

The day-long program started at 10:30 a. m. with a parade headed by Governor Sid McMath, Congressman Boyd Tackett and Attorney General Ike Murray. The city was packed to the brim for the parade and moved on to Fair park by noon.

From there on the crowd moved from one event to the other throughout the day.

Almost 50,000 pounds of watermelons were served to the visitors from 3:30 to 5 p. m. The day was climaxed with 3,000 to 4,000 persons jamming the coliseum to see Miss Kelly Marlar, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Marlar of Hope crowned queen of the festival.

Miss Marlar won out over 77 other contestants that furnished plenty of competition. There was only one place in the contest. Others competing were Minella Berry, Mary Lou Moore, Mary Pate, Kay Franks, Barbara Panky, Billie Joyce Boyett and Helen Marie Atkinson. Chuck Armitage was master of ceremonies and Mayor Lyle Brown crowned the festival queen.

Earlier in the afternoon Governor Sid McMath told a large Coliseum audience that Highway 67 between Texarkana and the Missouri line would be finished in 1952.

Congressman Boyd Tackett and Attorney General Ike Murray praised the watermelon industry and its importance to Hempstead County and Arkansas.

During the night Hope's Legionaires handily defeated DeQuen 9-3 before a partisan crowd. It was packed at the ball game and there was absolutely no room around municipal pool during the splendid water show given by a troupe from Texarkana under the direction of the American Red Cross.

Results of the swimming and diving contests were announced as follows by Hendrix Spraggins, in charge of the event:

Klan Crosses Blaze in Four States

By United Press

Fiery crosses, symbol of the Ku Klux Klan since reconstruction days, blazed in four southern states last night.

There was no indication that the demonstrations meant an organized revival of klan activity on a wholesale scale, although an Alabama leader said the incidents "presaged a renewal" of activity in his state.

Cross burnings often are merely indications of big klan membership drive or initial rituals. They also have been used in an attempt to frighten Negroes in some sections or as warnings to persons who have incurred the klan's displeasure.

Blazing crosses were reported last night in sections of Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee.

A huge wooden cross, wrapped in kerosene-soaked rags, was burned in the first such incident reported to police in recent months.

Capt. E. O. Mullen of the police department attached little significance to the burning as there had been the recent trouble reported in the area. But a search was started for footprints and other clues that might identify the burners.

Three giant crosses were burned on a vacant lot in the suburbs of Nashville, Tenn. Police found 200 handbills near the scene expressing the klan's opposition to communism. Officers thought the burning might be the signal for renewal klan activity in the area.

At least six crosses were burned in the Birmingham, Ala., area during the night.

William Hugh Morris, former Alabama KKK chief, said various groups had been busy since the end of trials which stemmed from night riding terrorism in the summer of 1949. There have been no convictions in the terrorist activity and the investigation has been dropped.

Flames from several of the crosses, set up on high hills overlooking the Alabama steel city, were plainly visible for miles. Morris thought the incidents "presaged a renewed activity of the federal Ku Klux Klans."

An unidentified klanman was quoted as saying more crosses would be burned tonight in the Orlando, Fla., area "because of lax law enforcement."

Some Comments From the Melon Festival Crowd

Comments from the crowd as gathered during yesterday's festivities at the Watermelon festival:

I wonder how so many rate a whole watermelon—all they gave me was one slice. But it was good and cold. Did you ever see such waste of good melons—they are only eating the hearts.

Boy you can't tell me that Sid isn't running again. He shook hands with me three times before I got seated and I bet he is worn out from climbing over those bleachers.

They really should give those boys some recognition for entertaining the crowd with model airplanes. They were really good. First time I have ever seen any like that. (Bill Wray and his boys entertained the group when the baseball game scheduled for 2:30 was cancelled at the last minute.)

Shucks, they picked that festival queen too quick. Just don't see how a judge could make up his mind so soon with all those swell looking gals. (The judges selected the queen on the first ballot.)

Man, look at the sweat pop out. These people are all full of watermelon and then they pack in this hot Coliseum but it was worth it to see these pretty gals in bathing suits.

Sure like to watch that diver, he really knows his business. Wish they would cut this Johnson grass out from back end of Municipal swimming pool then I could see the girls swim too.

They really got a program lined for tonight. But how am I going to watch the water ballet, attend the ball game and go to the barn dance all the same time. I'd like to take them all in.

Taking everything into consideration it was a pretty good festival—lots of people, melon and entertainment. Of course, it wasn't as big as in these old days but then it wasn't planned to be.

A homecoming for former Spring Hill students, and especially Methodists has been announced for the morning Sunday School and church service at Spring Hill Methodist Church on July 29.

After services a basket lunch will be spread on the ground. Everybody is urged to attend and bring baskets and join in the fellowship. During the afternoon a sing will be held.

More Chinese Attacks Are Beaten Off

8th Army Headquarters, Korea, July 26 —(AP)—United Nations forces beat off two Communist probing attacks and ambushed a Red patrol on the central front today.

Ground activity continued to be on a minor scale, however, and an 8th Army spokesman said U. N. casualties in the past 24 hours were the lightest in more than a week.

The Reds launched their probing attacks west of Choswon, at the southwest corner of the old Communist "iron triangle," but failed to dent the Allied line.

At the same time, U. N. units ambushed a Communist patrol in the predawn darkness west of Kumhwa, former southeast anchor of the triangle. Four of the Red soldiers were killed and the remainder fled.

Another enemy group was dispersed after a two-hour fight in the same area.

A U. N. task force Wednesday bulldozed through a heavy mortar barrage above Korangpo on the western front and drove defending Communists off high ground in an hour and a half fight.

A reinforced Communist battalion at the same time attacked west of Kumhwa behind a heavy mortar and artillery barrage, but Allied artillery scattered the enemy.

U. N. and Communist patrols exchanged small arms fire Wednesday just east of the ceasefire conference city of Kaerong.

U. N. war planes flew 685 sorties Wednesday against Communist supply dumps, marshaling yards and airfields to disrupt Communist preparations for surprise attack.

Hope Girl Wins Baking Contest at 4H Meet

Fayetteville, July 26 —(AP)—Homemaking prowess of two south Arkansas girls has paid off at the annual Arkansas 4-H club camp here.

A 17-year-old Columbia county lass, Judy Bass, yesterday won the annual dress review contest. She defeated Betty Sue Noland of north Sebastian county and Margaret Ponder of Howard county.

Fourteen-year-old Jacqueline Tyler of Hope baked a pan of hot biscuits to win the baking contest. She will receive an all-expense trip to the national 4-H club congress in Chicago next November.

Donald Culp, 15, of Paragould, won the state tractor driving contest. He will receive a watch or a scholarship.

Mrs. Opal Neal of Parks was elected president of the adult leaders council.

Other officers are: Mrs. Ernest Smith of Desha, secretary, and Robert M. Taylor, Clarksburg, Mrs. M. T. Pate, Camden, Mrs. Frank Byrnes, Tuckerman, and Mrs. John Tucker, Monticello, vice presidents.

Negro to Die for Shooting an Officer

Tucker Prison Farm, July 26 —(AP)—One of two East Arkansas Negroes is to pay with his life here early tomorrow for the pistol slaying of a St. Francis county peace officer.

He is Aubrey Smith, who will go to the Arkansas electric chair sometime after sunrise. Smith was sentenced to death for the fatal shooting of Deputy Sheriff Ray Campbell last Aug. 3.

Smith's companion, Peter Dorsey, also has been sentenced to die. However, his execution has been postponed pending outcome of an appeal to the United States Supreme court.

Tried in Phillips county on a charge of venue, Smith was found guilty of first degree murder for firing a pistol shot into the head of Deputy Campbell.

Smith and Dorsey were being transported from Little Rock to Forrest City to face a cow theft charge.

The two prisoners, who were handcuffed together in the back seat of the officer's car, overpowered Campbell and another officer, Otis Tatum, in the scuffle.

Campbell was slain. Tatum was hit by bullets. He recovered.

Smith and Dorsey escaped but were captured.

Smith signed a statement in which he said he pulled the trigger on the fatal weapon. Dorsey has denied that he was the one that fired the killing shot.

Smith and Dorsey appealed to the Arkansas Supreme court but the high tribunal affirmed their conviction. Smith has not appealed to the U. S. Supreme court.

McArthur Raps Policy in Far East

Boston, July 26 — (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur charged last night that Soviet propaganda "completely dominates" American foreign policy and claimed the result of the war in Korea has been "indecisive."

Coupling a blistering attack on administration policies abroad with what he called "reckless" spending at home, the five-star general laid down these major points:

1. — The United States has no foreign policy.
2. — Costs of government have risen at an accelerated, alarming and reckless rate with no plan for curbing taxes or inflation.
3. — "The survival of the free world is infinitely more dependent upon the maintenance of a strong, vigorous, healthy and independent America than upon any financial aid which we might provide under our own existing stringencies."

In the quiver of Massachusetts politicians, MacArthur has thrown himself into the 1952 presidential fight — either as a candidate or

Boyle Denies Accepting Money

Washington, July 26 — (AP) — Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr. of the Democratic national committee says he had nothing to do with negotiations for a $500,000 Government loan granted to a St. Louis firm on its fourth try.

Boyle acknowledged yesterday that he represented the company, the American Lithofold Corp., in legal matters not connected with the company's application for an RFC loan.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation granted the firm the loan in question in 1949. The loan was to have matured Jan. 6, 1951, RFC said, but it was paid off in full last Aug. 30 after the printing company obtained private financing.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch had reported yesterday that Boyle, a close friend of President Truman, received $100,000 from the company, the payments being made in monthly installments beginning shortly after the RFC loan was granted.

In his statement, Boyle said nothing about fees from the printing firm. He said he severed his relations with the company, and with all his other law clients, shortly after assuming full-time duties as executive vice chairman of the Democratic national committee in April 1949.

He later became chairman of the committee. In both positions, his salary has been $30,000 a year.

Senator William R. Delt, reading newspaper accounts of the Post-Dispatch story in the senate, said the case showed "just how low the morals of this administration have deteriorated."

Williams asserted that preliminary decisions not to grant the loan were reversed, it was granted, and James P. Finnegan, "was placed on the company payroll." He added that "this could not have been done without some assistance here in Washington."

Finnegan's administration as collector of internal revenue for eastern Missouri is now under investigation by a federal grand jury. The Post-Dispatch said he was paid $1,000 a month by the American Lithofold Corp.

An RFC spokesman said the agency records do not show that either Boyle or Finnegan played any role in the firm's negotiations for a loan.

Korea Action Prevent World War-Truman

Washington, July 26 — (AP) — President Truman today expressed belief that the "resolute" United Nations stand against aggression in Korea may have headed off a world war.

Declaring that the U. N., by its reaction to the Communist attack on South Korea, "made clear that an aggressor will not be allowed to isolate and destroy his victims one by one," Mr. Truman added:

"There is much to indicate that the resolute resistance of U. N. troops has given pause to those aggressive forces which could have brought tragedy to Korea."

These "chess" were contained in a letter to the President submitted by the President's committee on United States participation in the U. N. during 1950.

Mr. Truman referred to the 150-page report as "a record of decision and action in the face of danger" and "for the most part a record of solidarity among U. N. members against aggression."

Declaring that "the aggressors and their supporters undoubtedly believed" the U. N. would not act to the defense of South Korea, Mr. Truman said:

"It is probably that one of the purposes of the attack was to break down — through such a failure — any possibility of effective U. N. action against aggression in the future." He added:

"The U. N. elected to act now rather than to drift passively once more down the fatal trail of failure to oppose aggression which leads finally to total war. Thousands of men have therefore sacrificed their lives in Korea to end that millions may not lose their lives in a world war."

Noting that Communist propaganda has sought to represent the United States part in the Korean war as "imperialism," Mr. Truman said:

"Our action xxx was not dictated by any American material interest, there. We neither sought nor do we seek any special position or privilege in Korea. Our action in the crisis was motivated by our deep conviction of the importance of preventing a breakdown of the international security system and of the principles of the U. N. charter."

"I was convinced then, and I am convinced now, that to have ignored the appeal of Korea for aid, to have stood aside from the assault upon the charter, would have meant the end of the U. N. as a shield against aggression."

Mr. Truman said, "It might have meant the end of any possibility that collective security could be made to work."

Covering U. N. developments up to Dec. 31, the report and the President's letter bore no reference to the current efforts to work out an armistice in Korea.

Mr. Truman said that "American fighting men have rarely in all our history struck more important blows for human freedom and welfare." He also paid a tribute to the fighting men of 15 other countries taking part in the Korean struggle.

Tracing the U. N. action which resulted in branding the North Koreans as aggressors and the intervention of the Chinese Communists as an act of aggression, Mr. Truman said the Korean case demonstrated that the general assembly can act "effectively" even "if the security council is paralyzed by the veto."

Despite the Korean crisis, the President said, the U. N. in 1950 intensified its efforts to combat hunger, disease and ignorance, through its program of technical

Ambassador Kirk To Retire

Washington, July 26 — (AP) — Ambassador Alan Kirk is slated to retire as ambassador to Moscow early next winter, and administration officials are already wondering who should be his successor.

Kirk, who went to Moscow in June 1949, has served two years in the post. That is considered about the maximum that any diplomat should be asked to put in at one time behind the Iron Curtain where living conditions for Americans are so restricted.

In addition, Kirk has told the state department that he does not want to spend another winter in Moscow.

Informants said today that the consideration of a successor covers a wide range of possibilities, assistance to under-developed countries.

Sees Move to Block Meat Black Market

Washington, July 26 — (AP) — Senator Maybank (D-SC) said today he is confident congress will move to "block meat black markets" by scrapping the flat ban it voted on livestock slaughter quotas.

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) told reporters, however, that he will help lead a "bid to put such a ban into effect. He said scuttling or softening it wouldn't help curb black markets at all."

Maybank is chairman and Bricker a member of a senate-house conference committee assigned the job of ironing out differences between separate economic controls extension bills passed by the two branches of congress. The committee meets again today but members were uncertain whether the slaughter quota issue will come up now or later.

Quarterly conference committees dent only with the differences in bills passed by the two houses. But Maybank announced yesterday that the conferees had decided to explore the idea of altering one provision which is identical in the two controls bill.

This provision would require the office of price stabilization OPS, to abandon its present program of fixing the number of livestock animals individual packers may slaughter each month. OPS says the program is based on the total number of animals available and that it is designed to keep "fly-by-night" slaughterers from creating black markets by illegally bidding up prices beyond the ceiling.

The proposed ban on the pro-

The committee meets again today but members were uncertain whether the slaughter quota issue will come up now or later.

Quarterly conference committees dent only with the differences in bills passed by the two houses. But Maybank announced yesterday that the conferees had decided to explore the idea of altering one provision which is identical in the two controls bill.

This provision would require the office of price stabilization OPS, to abandon its present program of fixing the number of livestock animals individual packers may slaughter each month. OPS says the program is based on the total number of animals available and that it is designed to keep "fly-by-night" slaughterers from creating black markets by illegally bidding up prices beyond the ceiling.

Sees Move to Block Meat Black Market

Washington, July 26 — (AP) — Senator Maybank (D-SC) said today he is confident congress will move to "block meat black markets" by scrapping the flat ban it voted on livestock slaughter quotas.

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) told reporters, however, that he will help lead a "bid to put such a ban into effect. He said scuttling or softening it wouldn't help curb black markets at all."

Prices Defy Policy, Shoot Upwards

Washington, July 26.—(AP)—Some important price ceilings were being bulged upward today despite the "no-changes-in-July" policy fixed by Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalvo.

For consumers, OPS had announced a "slight" increase in the general price level of all major canned vegetables of the 1951 pack.

For industry, the bad news was a three-cent increase in copper refined from imported ores. OPS climbed to its ceiling on domestic copper.

The new regulation covering the billion-dollar canned vegetable industry was issued last night. It now affects only canned green beans, but snap beans, lima beans, corn, beets and tomatoes will be included later.

The order permits packers to base their prices on 1948 costs of materials, cans, labor, labels and supplies, plus specified cost increases since that year.

The result will vary from canner to canner, but OPS said the average price will be boosted somewhat.

The bureau of labor statistics reported, meanwhile, that its cost-of-living index dropped from May to June. The decline 0.1 per cent from May 15 to June 15, was the first decline since February, 1950.

The index on June 15 was 135.2 per cent of the average prices prevailing between 1925 and 1929. That was 0.8 per cent higher than the index of June, 1950, just before the outbreak of the Korean conflict.

The new price of 27 1-2 cents a pound on copper refined from foreign ores will relieve a squeeze on refiners. Since May 21, when this country and Chile reached an agreement bringing a three-cent rise in the cost of copper contained in foreign ore, United States refiners have been required to absorb the added cost.

As a result, Chilean copper reportedly was piling up on the docks. It formerly was priced at the prevailing domestic ceiling of 24 1-2 cents.

The domestic price will not be changed, OPS noted, under present plans.

Filling of Bull Shoals Dam Starts

Little Rock, July 25.—(AP)—The U. S. Engineers' district office here has announced that filling of the big Bull Shoals dam reservoir has begun.

Col. Hans W. Holmer, chief of the Little Rock district, said yesterday that the filling, probably would be finished in May, 1952. A big portion of the normal White river flow will be stored in the reservoir until a water depth of 200 feet is attained. The stored water will be used to produce electrical power.

Construction of the dam near Cotter has been underway for several months.

The only one hit game pitched during the 1948 American League season was by Frank Shea of the Yankees. The hit was made by opposing hurler, Hal Newhouser of the Tigers.

DOROTHY DIX

Nervous Affliction

Dear Dorothy Dix: Six years ago I met a girl with whom I have fallen in love. She also loves me, just before I met her I had a nervous breakdown which has left me with an affliction. Whenever I am in a crowd listening to a minister, lecturer or singer, my head shakes uncontrollably and it is so embarrassing that I do not want to go to such places with my girl. I have been to a doctor, but his only advice was to avoid places that would bring on this shaking.

I am 30 years old; I would like to marry this girl but have a guilty conscience about asking her. I couldn't take her to church, and she goes every Sunday with her parents. We do go for long walks, drives and even to shows, which don't bother me. We also enjoy visiting her parents like me, but they don't know about my nervous condition. I have a good job. Should I tell her this is why I have hesitated to propose or should I be resigned to remaining a bachelor?

Answer: You are making altogether too much of your so called affliction and worry is probably making the condition a lot incurable ailment that may well decrease as time goes on until you'll forget it ever existed.

Be Frank With Her
Begin to get your mind straightened out by speaking frankly to Irene about the situation, and also tell her parents of it. The sympathetic understanding I am sure you will receive may in itself prove an alleviation to at least part of your trouble.

Then make an equally frank presentation of the case to yourself. Have you at any time had any resentment toward a church that might make you feel nervous in one? Church is the one place on earth where you will find the solace to bear your affliction, or the courage to overcome it. Spend some time in church alone, then try to go on occasions where there will be no preaching. Then go to a service which includes a sermon. Sit near the rear of the church and if your head begins to shake, slip unobtrusively away. After a few attempts I think you'll learn to forget yourself in contemplation to God and you'll also forget to be nervous.

Even though your condition persists on some occasions, you need not feel yourself away from the world. The number of pleasures denied you are small in comparison to the number you can enjoy.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been going with a soldier for seven months. Although I love him, and I know he loves me, we broke up once over another boy. Since we started going together again, he doesn't show affection the way he used to and in the last few weeks he has stopped coming to the house. He had an unhappy home life, and I think he has a complex against parents. We had planned to be married when I got out of school. I love him, but I can't understand his attitude about coming to the house.

Answer: Men are queer creatures. A girl is supposed to overlook any number of flirtations her boy friend enjoys, but just let her look sideways at another lad and our young man blows his top. One glance in the wrong direction and a girl is accused of being fickle, untrustworthy, a heartbreaker, and a few other choice epithets.

Whether your affair with the boy who caused the break between you and your friend was casual or serious it will be very difficult for you to live it down and convince your friend that you really care for him. He probably feels that since you hurt him once, it will happen again and is trying to keep a safe distance between you both. That's why he is avoiding your home.

The unhappiness of your boy friend's family background has given him a feeling of insecurity that was increased by your own lapse. He really needs someone he can depend upon, and if you feel up to the responsibility, try to convince him that you are that person. It will take time and patience, but will be a great accomplishment.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been going with a married man for six years and have tried to break off with him, but he says he will kill me if I stop seeing him. Now I have recently met, after several years a school friend who is willing to move to another town if I will marry him. I am 25 years old.

GOPs Select Rev. Poling in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, July 25—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling was chosen as the Democratic candidate for mayor of Philadelphia today, but his early victory was less of a surprise in the Pennsylvania primary than the nomination of Democratic Michael A. Mummanna for the state Supreme court.

Fighting a lone-wolf battle against the Democratic organization, the 42-year-old Mummanna, judge at the war crimes trial at Nuremberg, upset Justice Groves C. Laddner, 65, who had the backing of nearly all the state's Democratic leaders.

Mummanna, a Pittsburgh judge, also achieved national prominence by his efforts to jail West Coast Pennsylvania Communists.

Laddner, however, said he would have "no comment until all the returns are in."

The result of the Supreme court contest, in which no function of election, drew attention from the GOP minority contest in Philadelphia, which had been called as the key contest in Tuesday's primary.

Dr. Poling, 58 year old Baptist minister and one time head of the Christian endeavor movement in the United States, secured a landslide victory over Walter P. Milburn, 40, public life manufacturer in the Republican minority contest.

A woman—and a grandmother of that—won the only congressional seat at stake in the election. Mrs. Vera Buchanan, of McKeesport, 48-year-old widow of Rep. Hugh Buchanan (D-Pa.) defeated Republican Clifford W. Flegel, 30, the Republican nominee, in the third district for the seat formerly held by her husband.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler
Copyright, 1951
By King Features Syndicate.

New York, July 24 — To the grotesque record of anti-public interference which the union racket has received under the political patronage of the Roosevelt-Truman regime, a bus-driver's union in Chicago recently added an incident unique in its cynicism throughout more brutal than many others.

A Negro passenger named Milton B. Sims, accompanied by his little boy, Ernest, seven years old, went into the dispatcher's office to complain that a bus driver, Walter R. Crownover, had passed him by at a street corner. Crown-over followed Sims into the office and fired two shots at him from a .38 revolver. One bullet struck Sims in the heart. He died soon. Crownover said Sims "reached for his pocket. I saw him unarmed, but a butcher knife was taken from the little boy.
There was some uncertainty as to when Sims gave the child the knife, but there was no immediate suggestion that it had figured in the action in any way.

Not to put too fine a technical point on a plain fact, the bus company was justified in firing Crownover and announced that he would never drive a bus again for them. And not to put too fine a point on the effective stoppage of bus service which ensued, 205 drivers and 40 shopworkers, members of Division 1212 of the American Association of Street,
Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, went out on strike in sympathy with Crown-over.

The company said he had violated a public law and its a private regulation in carrying the plaid on the bus. It passed no judgment on the shooting of Sims, leaving that to the grand jury
and the trial jury. The Chattanooga
News-Free Press editorially called the strike "an inexcusable imposition on the public" and pointed out that "grievance procedure" existed in the contract between the company and the union, which could have been invoked to protect the driver's rights under unionism.

Meanwhile, a Negro group in-demanded that the company's franchise be revoked. Crownover was not fired out of hand. Also meanwhile, local discussion, proand con, of the facts of the shooting, has been formal and restricted, as befits the situation, but the issue of Crownover's "rights" has been hollered up as though this temperate fellow vested right to a job in a trade heavily infested with surla and violent ignorance was all that mattered.

The people of Chattanooga were put to great discomfort and convulsion, suffered appreciably during the five days when the busmen were showing their solidarity with a fellow unionist. Indeed, the situation was not relieved until an "international representative," a semi-royal office in the union scale of pompous importance could be summoned from afar.
This personality, one Otto De-Bates, soon delivered his solemn judgment that this matter could be settled at the conference table. It was ever so, but the local disparities had not found the honor and scorn to shame the strikers back to work and repudiate the incident which was the cause of it all.

Since the passenger whose complaint that he was "passed up" is a valid and two-farthing grievance of the public against bus drivers, is dead and yet the union lacked the decency to refrain from saying that it did not "discriminate any way against the colored people." A little boy saw his father shot down without a chance.

Here was a routine case of police work which nevertheless tied up an important city's passenger service, inflamed racial feeling and dignified a fellow who, in the normal procedure of any well-run city would have been slapped into jail and treated according to the known facts of the killing. After all, Sims didn't pull a gun and the truth is, he refused to pay the impounded to complain when he believed he had been mistreated by a white man. The minute technical issue whether the company had a right to fire the man is trifling and could have been settled without a strike if the membership had had the conscience to abhor the killing of a man who was nearly one minute and a corpse the next. The actual effect of the strike was a demonstration of support for the accused man, not sympathy for his victim, who represented the public.

This is further evidence added to abundance, that American workers are not, as the professional union leaders advise us, all generous, humane and crowded to the pores with a sense of "democracy." Under unionism, many have been made cynical and brutal adepts in misdirection. So often have so many of them arrayed themselves against the unorganized but vastly greater body of the whole public that they're inviting a gory showdown to limit their powers and impose the same restraints that govern their civic superiors.

THE GILA MONSTER

BY JULIUS LONG
Copyright 1951 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Laura Colton,
wealthy woman in California, also active being bitten by a Gila Monster and her son, a young prospector, in a mountain.
Colton, the widow, is being questioned by Mr. McCracken, the coroner, and Baker.

DR. McCracken went on doggedly, "I talked to several other people in Arizona about Gila Monsters. They all said the same thing about there being no poison scent."

Again Sam Colton chuckled. "I suppose they told you that Yucca and Cacti are members of the cactus family and that the San Pedro River is the only river in the world that flows north. You've traveled in Arizona. Doc, I lived there. The natives know less about desert life than the average Eskimo."

Dr. McCracken stood silent and defeated. If anybody had told him 24 hours ago that Sam Colton would ever talk him down, he would have laughed uproariously.

Next day, however, the coroner was back in form. The inquest was held in the county courthouse trial room, and the crowd overflowed into the corridor. Bob Crawford and his wife gave the most dramatic testimony, and there wasn't a soul there who didn't think Bob deserved a medal for the brave manner in which he had attacked the deadly monster, by now reputed invariably fatal after one poisonous bite. Such people as who did not already have lights in their glove boxes were now installing them.

"The remnants of the lethal Union were exhibited in a alcohol jar, which Sam Colton continued to regard with a look many people thought grateful. His two children, Paul and Lawrence, did not attend the inquest, since they had been taken to San Antonio. Paul and Lawrence had been taken to San Antonio and were being kept there and all that time before they could be released."

"But Gila Monsters are poisonous!"
"That's what Sam Colton knew!"
Paul and Lawrence shouted the phrelated a public law and its a private regulation in carrying the plaid on the bus. It passed no

judgment on the shooting of Sims,
leaving that to the grand jury
and the trial jury. The Chattanooga

Festival Crowd Sees Hope Blast DeQueen 9-3

By Donald Hobbs

Hope's Legionnaires blasted out 18 hits, including a home run, at Fair park last night to down De-Queen 9 to 3 before a capacity watermelon festival crowd. The victory gave the local team a tightrope on first place in the SWA loop.
Aided by errors the Legionnaires quickly overcame a 1-run deficit with Marty Filomamo's 365-foot homer in the third and went on to win handily.

DeQueen pushed across a pair in the opening frame and another in the ninth but couldn't match the local sluggers, led by Buddy White with 4 for 5.

Filomamo, Buddy White and Gilson Ross all singled to drive in Hope's first tally. Marty's homer in the third tied the game up and singled by Bud White and Gilson Ross plus an error scored one more in the fifth putting Hope ahead.

Hope led it down in the seventh scoring three on another single by Buddy White, Leroy Riddling and a couple of errors. It was three more in the eighth on Anderson's double and consecutive singles by Buddy White, Bill Gunter and Bob Ross.

While Hope was tagging DeQueen
's Bard for 16 safeties, Denzil Ross was slugging giving up only three runs on 7 hits. He walked nobody and struck out nine.

Hope travels to Murfreesboro tonight seeking their tenth victory in a row.

State to Furnish 117 Men for Draft

Little Rock, July 25 — (AP) — Selective service has authorized Arkansas to furnish 117 men for September induction into the armed forces.

Lt. Col. Elliott Stoddard, manpower division chief for the state, said yesterday that local draft board quotas would be announced in August.

Two Fixers of Cage Games
Are Jailed

New York, July 25 — (AP) — Two fixers in the latest college basketball scandal were in protective custody today and a five-state police dragnet was out for one of their accomplices a principal in a multi-state double-cross among gamblers.

District Attorney Frank Hogan, yesterday revealed that a sixth school — Toledo university — was involved in the sordid, mushrooming scandal, told the story of the double-cross among the fixers.

It involved Nick Engleis, who rode in the same compartment with an All-American basketball player; his brother Tony, New York contact man; Jack Zini West, a former Dutch Schultz associate, and Eli Kaye, the master fixer.

The two English brothers are in protective custody. West, who left New York Tuesday when the English boys were picked up, is the object to the police search. Kaye is free in $50,000 bail on a charge of fixing city college of New York games last season.

Here is the story of the double-cross as related by Hogan:

Kaye assigned Nick Engleis, a former University of Kentucky football player to the Bradley university team. Engleis not only paid frequent visits to the Peoria, Ill., campus, but at one time rode in the same compartment on a railroad train with All-American player Gene Melchiorre, who along with four of his teammates, has admitted participating in game-fixing during the 1949-50 season.

Before each Bradley game, Nick would telephone his brother in New York, who would relay the details of the fix to West. West paid $1,000 for the information. The West-Engleis arrangement was unknown to Kaye.

Bradley was favored by six or seven points against St. Joseph's in Philadelphia, and the deal was that Melchiorre and his team would win by a narrow margin. Persons who bet on St. Joseph thus would win their wagers.

West was let in on the deal, but when Kaye found considerable money was being bet on St. Joseph's, he decided that the word must have leaked out and that there was a double-cross on.

Accordingly, Kaye told Nick they would switch their bets and "teach the other guys a lesson." Kaye then relayed his new instructions to the Bradley players — that they were supposed to win by more than the point spread. Nick called his brother in New York, who told West of the switch. But West said he couldn't change his bets.

West and two of his men took Tony to the West apartment in Brooklyn, and, holding him prisoner, instructed him to call Convention hall in Philadelphia where the game was being played, and talk to his brother.

Tony did, telling Nick his life was being threatened. Nick then brazenly dashed to the Convention hall floor, caught Melchiorre's eye and turned his thumbs down, indicating that the plans again were changed — the team was to win under the point spread. Thinking the orders were coming from Kaye, Melchiorre nodded.

Bradley won, 64-60, under the spread, and Kaye, still unmindful of what was going on, lost heavily betting on Bradley to win by more than six or seven points. West won his bets.

In addition to Melchiorre, Aaron Preece, Jim Kelly, Bill Mann and Bud Grover of Bradley have admitted complicity. Melchiorre, in fact, was willing "to do business" for $4,500 a game throughout the 1950-51 season. But the plan fell through because of a disagreement on how to manipulate scores. Vincent O'Connor of Hogan's office said in Peoria last night.

Eight games were fixed during that season, some under and some over the point spread, Hogan said.

Besides the Bradley players and the three from Toledo — William Walker, Robert McDonald and Carlo Muzi — 19 from New York schools have been named as being implicated in the fixing of more than 25 games.

Kaye also was involved in the Toledo fix. The players held their winning margin to only three points in beating Niagara, 73-70, last year. Three minutes before the end, Toledo led by 17 points. Kaye gave $1,750 to Walker, who, in turn, distributed $250 each to McDonald and Muzi and kept the remainder for himself.

No charges have been placed against the three Toledo players, since there is no law against bribing amateur players in Ohio. Melchiorre, Mann, Preece, Grover and Kelly, however, have been placed in technical custody in Peoria.

British to Decide on
More Oil Talk

London, July 25 — (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee and his cabinet meet today to decide whether they should take up Iran's offer to reopen talks designed to settle the months-old oil squabble between the two nations.

Officials here have been regarding the Iranian proposal with a wary eye. A foreign office spokesman said they were awaiting a report from Sir Francis Shepherd, British ambassador to Tehran, who apparently has been asked to sound out the Iranians to make certain both sides interpret the offer the same way. If they do, Britain is expected to dispatch a mission to Tehran.

Britain wants to make sure the Iranians are sincerely willing to negotiate the crisis over the Anglo-Iranian oil company. "We sent one mission to Tehran and got nowhere," an official said. "We don't want to send another and have the same thing happen. That would be disastrous." Details of the Iranian offer have not been made public in Tehran, but Ali Shavagan, member of the parliamentary oil nationalization board, said he believed President Tuman's special envoy, W. Averell Harriman, had succeeded in bringing the Iranians and British together.
